3/4/5/6			The Roman Empire means the group of countries ruled by the Romans. The Romans organised their armies in a special way. Roman soldiers wore special clothes.			VE (Victory in Europe) day is celebrated on 8th May. The allies defeated the Nazis on 8th May 1945. Brief timeline WW11 The allies were Britain, USA, Axis powers were Germany				The Mayans were Indigenous peoples of Mexico and Central America. Between about 250 and 900 AD the Maya had a way of life that was very advanced for the time. The Mayan civilization began a fast decline after 900AD. No one knows for sure why this happened.		The women of ancient Greece had far fewer rights than men. They couldn't vote, they couldn't participate in parties and their main role in life was to raise their kids. As children, young Greek girls were under the authority of their father. And after marriage, their husbands became their official guardians. Sparta was a city-state in ancient Greece known for its military prowess and strict social structure. Boys were trained from a young age to become soldiers, and women were expected to produce strong offspring for the army. The Spartan army was feared throughout Greece and played a significant role in many battles, including the famous Battle of Thermopylae. Despite its military might, Sparta eventually declined due to a lack of innovation and a rigid society that stifled creativity and progress. Sparta was an important and powerful city-state in ancient Greece. Spartan society was uniquely designed to support its militaristic lifestyle and maintain power. It was divided into three groups: the Spartiates, who were full citizens and soldiers; the Perioeci, non-citizen free people involved in trade and crafts; and the Helots, who were essentially serfs. This society operated under a mixed political system and was known for the relatively greater freedoms given to women compared to other parts of ancient Greece. Spartan women had unique roles and freedoms compared to women in other ancient Greek city-states. They were allowed to own property and received education, preparing them for their roles as mothers of warriors.

													With men often away for military duties, women held significant responsibilities at home, becoming important figures in society. Their autonomy and roles were crucial in maintaining the Spartan societal structure and supporting its military culture.
